Methods Used to Determine which Students will Receive Emergency Grants and How Much Fall 2021 Methods

Undergraduate and Graduate Students who completed the 2020-21 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), with exceptional financial need as determined by their FAFSA expected family contribution (EFC) ranging from $0-$10,000, and were enrolled in at least one unit for the Spring 2021 or Summer 2021 semesters were prioritized and will automatically receive a one-time, lump-sum grant of $350. No separate application is needed. Students are not required to have received federal aid or fall into just the $0-$10,000 EFC range to qualify. If you have extenuating COVID-19 related expenses that exceed $350, you may submit a HEERF 3.0 Emergency Relief Grant Application no later than December 17, 2021 for additional consideration. Students who have not completed a FAFSA may also still apply. Financial Aid will review and determine an amount, if any, on a case-by-case basis. LMU Loyola Law School Students who meet the eligibility requirements above are encouraged to submit a HEERF 3.0 Emergency Relief Application no later than December 17, 2021. Financial Aid will review and determine grant amounts, if any, on a case-by-case basis. Students with exceptional financial need as determined by their FAFSA expected family contribution (EFC) ranging from $0-$10,000 will be prioritized. However, students whose EFC is $10,001 or higher or those who did not complete a FAFSA may still apply.

Fall 2021 Outstanding Balance Student Opt-in Methods

Undergraduate and Graduate Students with an outstanding student account balance were identified during the Spring 2022 enrollment period in mid-November and before the end of the Fall 2021 term. Students then had to demonstrate exceptional financial need as determined by their FAFSA EFC ranging from $0-$10,000. LMU sent electronic notification to this student population and provided an opportunity to assist with their outstanding balance. LMU obtained the student's electronic, affirmative consent if a student wanted to use a HEERF 3.0 grant to satisfy an outstanding account balance per the Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund III (HEERF 3.0) Frequently Asked Questions guidebook. Students who provided affirmative electronic consent received the HEERF 3.0 grant directly to their student account. Students within this outstanding balance population who opted-out or took no action received an electronic check with HEERF 3.0 funds. Receipt of the HEERF 3.0 grant for this outstanding balance population was not contingent upon future enrollment or re-enrollment at LMU or required consent of the opt-in opportunity for HEERF 3.0 grant receipt.
